THERE has of late been a great deal of discus-Northern Telegraph Company. That such discussion should have arisen is not unnabreaks in communication, which have occurred must be irritating in the highest degree to commercial men and others depend- Japanese Government protects it. ing upon the line for the transmission of intelligence. But it is hardly fair that these before the public in reply to criticisms, which, time discussions should take the form of strong conclusions unfavourable to them should be adopted on very inadequate premisses. To some extent misconception is perhaps excutable, as the statements with regard to one or two defects in the original laying of the cable -first, that it was too light; and secondly, that it was laid too closely inland-were very prevalent, and we have ourselves to plead guilty to having fullen into error in these particulars. But the North China Daily News, followed by the China Mail here, have gone very much farther, having not only given publicity to the statements as to the above defects, which we now understand are founded upon a misconception, but, without taking the trouble to enquire into the rumours, have deduced from them conclusions, which the facts of the case, as we have them upon completely reliable authority, will not bear out. In the correspondence in the North China Daily News, which was reproduced in the China Mail of the 6th instant, the main points made are, first, the assertion, or it may rather be called the invention, that it may pay the Company to have one of its cables, that, painely, between Hongkong and Amov. broken. Now this statement is too absurd therefute; but two questions necessarily Tigre left that day. arise fro it. If it pays a Company to have its local cables lying broken as dead stock, how can another cable laid with the object of getting this same local traffic ever pay? The second question is what on earth should ever induce the Company to repair such a cable? Next, the Company is blamed for not having sent its repairing steamer down with all possible despatch to the South, and hints are given that the Company has tried to make money out of the matter, and is to blame for broken in Nagasaki, on the 80th of June, to Shanghai to discharge the cargo which rived by the mail from Hougkong on the 7th of whose importance only those connected his assertions on facts! So much for the former article, and we now come to that in the China Mail, which appearance of the Company here,

"THE CHRONICLE AND DIRECTORY" says that it must blame both those who I manufactured the cable and those who laid to the conclusion that the cables can have cable is marked, it is quite convinced that a better could have been chosen.

The "Great Northern" is an old telegraph Company, possessing many cables between England, Norway, Denmark, Sweden and Russia, which have been working now for many years, and most of these cables are of exactly similar construction to those out in China. The material of which the insulation is composed, being rather a novelty in submarine lines, has been experimented upon, and tested by some of the most prominent and experienced English electriciaus, such as Mr. LATIMER CLARK, and others. The testing of the cables in Europe gave a result which showed their insulation to be ten times better than the best cables of other material in existence. Some faults which occurred in the cable during the passage out, THE VARIOUS HOUSE FLAGS and which were caused by the dry heat on the way from Malta to Suez, where the water I had to be taken out of the tanks in order to lighten the ship, were cut out here in China, and, before the cable was laid, the tests of it gave exactly the same result as had been obtained in London During all the time taken out, and this only caused a stoppage of a few hours. All the other stoppages, but merely such a measure as would prevent some seventy or eight, have been caused from anthoring or cutting. The last time when the cable was tested after the repairs from the respective stations, it was found to be in the same perfect order as before. The cables | Surreme Court in this Colony, shall be perwere laid by the man who had superintended Quelcuand Campbell. the laying of the Great Northern Telegraph Company's cables in Europe, Mr. MADSEN, in conjunction with one of the best known telegraphengineers in England, Mr. FRANCE. Information from many and well-known captains and pilots from this coast was asked for and given, and it was only after mature deliberation that the cible was laid where it .. Mesers. Lane, Chawrord & Cc. | was thought safest. The cable consists of four sections, weighing respectively 11, 3, 8 and 18 tons to a mile. These figures show laid to lead to abuses, and to fail to save that the Chinese cables are as strong, or the public any espense. In support of the jacket. The defendant had run away, but was rather stronger, thou any other cable. The outer covering was manufactured in London emenses were for heavier than at present. He by a well-known firm, under the strictest proposed the following amendment supervision on the part of the Company. All these sections have been cut or damaged by the following :anchor, by the Chinese, thus showing that New York..... Mesers. S. M. PETTINGILL & Co. | weight makes no difference, and heavier than | 18 tons per mile it will be almost impossible portion of the Mercantile Community, are of to construct a cable. In fact, the heavier opinion that it is expedient to mudify to HALL& HOLTZ and KELLY cables are more exposed to being cut than the slighter ones, because when an anchor gets entangled in them, the strain makes it more difficult to free it without injuring the cable. As a proof for this, we may mention

Even out here there is sufficient proof that the Great Northern Telegraph Company's cables are not badly constructed, in the wellsion, both among the general public and in known fact that the northern cableto Wladithe newspapers, with reference to the Great wostock, which is constructed exactly like the Attorney-General's amendment. others, and was manufactured at the same time, has only been broken once, and that by tural, as it is easily understood that the chafing on a rock. In Japan, the cable has never been cut or injured, although the water is as shallow as in Chica, simply because the

We deem it right to lay the above facts? though doubtless made bona fide, and with invective against the Company, and that the best intentions, must appear, when the just. If the fact that the Company has to makes the utmost efforts to overcome them, both by altering the position of the cable to sion for the first time, and the Council was admore secure parts and by placing heavier jouned to Tuesday next, at 2.30 p.m. cable at the more exposed parts, this want of confidence is not very well founded. But we trust this is not the case, and leave the China Mail and our Shanghai contemporary's correspondents to start another Hon R. Rowett. company with the wealthy natives. Doubtless, if another cable were laid between this and Shanghai, the fact would be very satisfactory to the two existing Companies, as the cable would probably have to be sold before long at a tolerably chap rate. Four or five millions of dollars are not so easily got together, and this is about the sum which would be required to lay a cable clear of all dangers, and of sufficient strength to resist half the injuries which have been sustained by the one now existing.

The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council bas delivered a judgment of considerable importance in its bearing on the coolie traffic carried on between Macao and the South American continent. Nor is it without interest of a more general kind, with reference to the action of the Hongkong authorities and our treaty obligations as to the surrender of Chinese criminals to the Chinese Government. The present case was brought up on an appeal of the Attorney General of Hongkong from a judgment of the Supreme Court of that colony, whereby the respondent, Kwok-n-ning-n Chinese coolie, accused of murder and piracy on the high sens, while in a Fronch vessel, the Nouvelle Pénélope-who had been brought before the court by writ of habeas corpus, was ordered to be released. This proceeding, with slight variation, was twice repeated with similar results. Kwok-a-sing was first arrested on a charge of criminality against the Chinese law with a view to his extradition; and on being discharged by order of the Court, was again arrested at the suit of the Attorney-General, with a view to his being tried for an act of piracy, and a second time discharged, the Chief-Justice ruling that the traffic in coolies, as at present imprisonment, for infanticide. On being conconducted, is de facto a slave trade, and they fined, she popped the shild into a saucenen, and,

This they were clearly of opinion was an illegal warrant, and was one beyond his jurisdiction. Having come to this conclusion, their lordslips had next to decide whether the judgment | On Calcutta, -Bank, 3 days' sight 229 whereby Kwok-a sing was for the second time On SHANGEAL .discharged from enstody was valid. It is the one question of all others, however, which it is of primary importance to determine. The main facts which the annals of the traffic disclose are so analogous in all the circumstances, in so far as steps taken to secure the cargoes of coolies. both before and after shipment, are concerned --- whatever variety there may be in the tragic incidents of the final catastrophe-that the judgment which might be rightly come to in one instance would be equally applicable to all. It is not difficult to see that their lordships are by no means disposed to accept Chief-Justice Smale's outspoken opinion of the traffic as slave dealing.
